A gold-colored rectangular tray with a textured surface and two circular handles at the top and bottom. On the tray are four small, rectangular appetizers arranged vertically. Each appetizer is topped with fresh green herbs, purple microgreens, and a drizzle of brown sauce. The tray is set against a background of a floral pattern with large red and blue flowers on a light background. A large, semi-transparent watermark of a sunburst is centered over the tray.

PALMETTO BLUFF

843.773.5917

Golf at Palmetto Bluff is shaped by purpose—for the land, the game, and those who play with intention. Jack Nicklaus' May River course honors the natural contours of the maritime forest. Crossroads by King Collins reimagines the nine-hole experience. And Anson Point, by Coore & Crenshaw, reflects a purist philosophy shaped entirely by the land. Here, the game is both preserved and passed on—from seasoned players to the next generation discovering their swing.
